

ABC Non-Profit Legacy Member Login

Step One: User provides details on parent association with ABC

Step Two: System automatically matches first/last name and location information to existing Legacy database

Step Three: Email automatically sent to member parent asking for him/her to verify child or password; he/she changes it at 1st login

Step Four: User gets an email with temporary user name and password; he/she passes it at 1st login

Step Five: An annual email can be sent to sponsoring parent to verify they are still associated with ABC

Step Six: One month before member renewals due, alert Legacies that if parent does not renew, Legacies lose access to site

Member Feed Twitter Meetups Social Responsibility (Global) idealist.org

Future Consideration: This age group is very interested in "local" volunteering. ABC could offer using service and report their party list of opportunities

Future Consideration: All ABC would need to track "volunteer" by members in each party list of opportunities

Future Consideration: With an annual event right now, Meetups is a great way for local members to organize together (instead of chapter)

Future Consideration: The user network has special meaning at the member level and does not really fit into the full blown network (more info shares)

More Information

Major topics follow MyABC approach

When "Internships" tab is clicked from main menu, accesses intern resource center

Great place to put internships (initially) can advertise on home page, during 1st session

This also allows members to post "desired" internships and get help on locating opportunities

Potential feed from MyABC Marketplace

Dynamic navigation takes less than 5 minutes to add a new resource center

Initially, this can be a direct link to SEN on MyABC, but assume content will migrate down to Legacy site (perhaps, Legacy needs access to MyABC portal)

Could one day see these requests approved on the MyABC site; members may need and have an idea or opportunity for Legacy

One day, resource center can give way to a full Wiki environment (may break into this network and web pages)

Similar approach to MyABC site can be a simple Blog feed (free)

Home page shows the latest blogs, discussion topics, staff announcements, resource center updates, etc. All are aggregated to show the very latest activity on the site (Note: stories can be "locked" by an admin to only show best stuff)

LinkedIn is a powerful asset for ABC. Gives access to not only members, but their associates. Great for finding vendors, new firms, etc... Finding a "friend" of a ABC Legacy

ABC Legacy members can follow activity from Legacy friends and/or the whole network of Legacy members

Network Updates

While ABC will have a Flickr account, photos added to "groups" can come from any Flickr account (great for aggregating personal photos of ABC events)

Open a Meetup Group exclusively for ABC Legacy members

Any member can post an "invite" to meet other Legacies at the same city

Note: this can be a very effective tool when you build out a robust event list (and this can be used to generate ideas for events)

Benefits of LinkedIn Groups is the ability to search only other ABC members friends and associates (Also, a great way to keep up with ABC Friends)

Someday, this may be available via RSS and ABC can "subscribe" the feed to only show the most important updates...

One banner is not enough... recommend at least 4 rotating banners and a way to rotate back to an ad that has already played (set timer to 10-15 seconds)

Good place to feature the quarterly newsletter when hot off press
